

We trained together for several weeks and became very good friends. She was really nice and we always spent fun-time together once she took my halter off.